

NELSON TAKES OVER
NACC; RAY CLINE DEPARTS

CPYRGHT

Dr. Ray Cline, No. 2 man in the Central Intelligence Agency, left Taipei yesterday with his family after a three-day stay.

Dr. Cline, formerly director of the Naval Auxiliary Communications Center and president of the Harvard Club here, is the deputy Director intelligence of CIA. His wife and two daughters had stayed behind in Taipei.

He told the press yesterday he made the trip primarily to pick up his family for Washington.

The Clines were sent off by General Chiang Ching-kuo minister without portfolio.

Cline's successor, William E. Nelson, arrived here yesterday with Mrs. Nelson and their four children. Nelson has served for many years with the State Department and the Department of Defense on Far Eastern affairs before his present assignment in Taiwan.
